

Enhance Operations with Identification and Safety Solutions

Cannabis supply chain

Brady can help you create a safer and leaner facility.

Raw material storage and warehousing

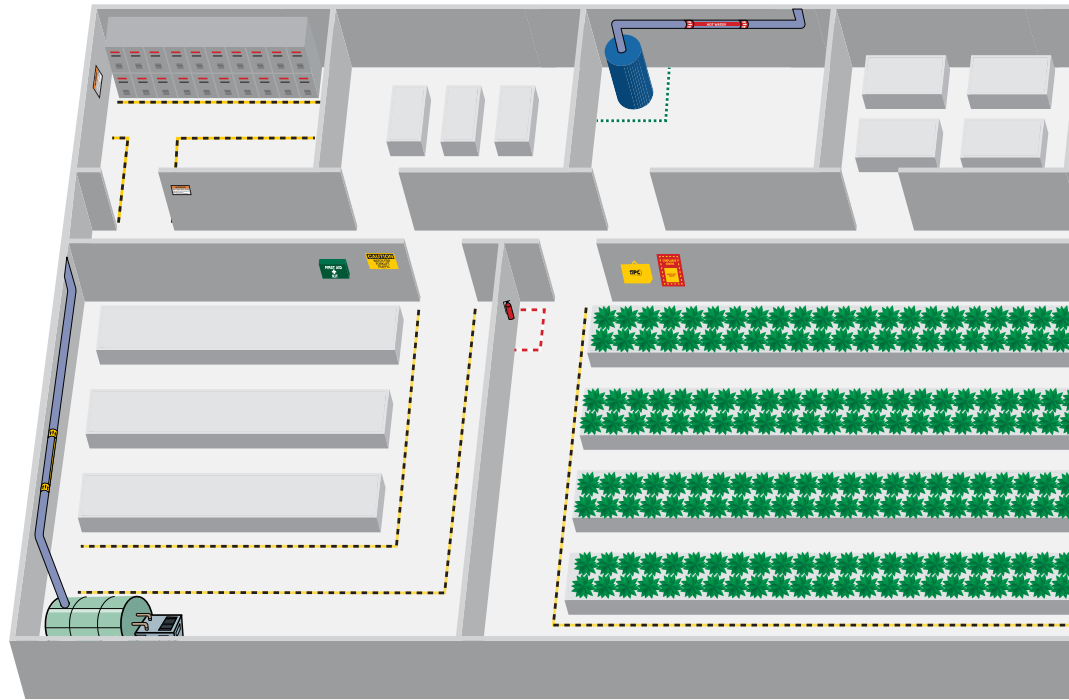

Prevent cross contamination by clearly marking your storage areas with highly visible and durable labels.

Maintenance

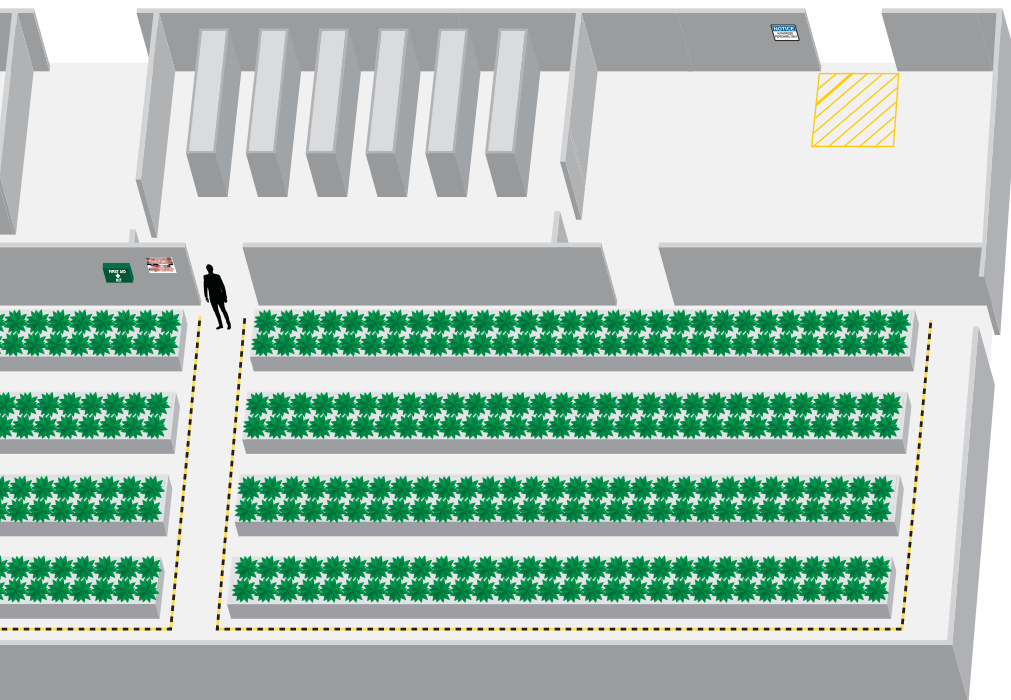

Keep your workers safe and your facility in compliance with the right lockout tagout products and machine-specific procedures for all of your power sources.

Also, be ready for any unexpected spills by keeping the right absorbents on hand for quick clean up.

Work flow

Mark your designated walkways with durable floor marking tape to keep traffic flow safe and work areas clear of clutter.

Bottling and packaging

Meet packaging requirements and increase product visibility.

Production

With our washdown-resistant signs and labels, you can put instructional and safety signage at the point of need to get your message noticed, ensuring you produce the highest-quality products.

Maximize operational and employee safety and avoid OSHA fines with identification of potential hazards and critical control points.

Quality and research labs

Maintain data integrity and sample inventory accuracy by using labels that withstand laboratory processes and stay where you put them.
